Minneapolis – 612.492.5422

Ari draws from a diverse array of professional experiences to find creative solutions to clients' complex legal issues.

Ari is focused on assisting clients through every stage of the litigation process. He brings a detail-oriented and data-driven approach informed by his prior career in sports analytics and a dedication to client service honed as a paralegal specializing in business immigration. Ari also leans on his background as a small business owner and organic farmer to understand his clients' needs and deliver effective solutions.

Prior to beginning his practice at Dorsey, Ari served as a judicial law clerk in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin.

Ari is committed to pro bono service with a focus on immigration and criminal matters. In law school, he represented housing tenants facing eviction in court and in negotiations with their landlords.
