New York – 212.415.9242

With holistic experience of the life cycles of lending and financial products, Courina effectively represents an array of parties in capital market financing transactions, restructurings, bankruptcy, and regulatory compliance advice.

Courina regularly represents corporate trust and banking institutions as indenture trustees and agents in connection with domestic and cross-border capital markets. Her prior representations include Bank of New York Mellon, Wilmington Trust, and U.S. Bank in project financing secured and unsecured transactions.

Courina also represents debtors, creditors, vendors, potential bidders, and other third parties in complex bankruptcy and restructuring matters. Her prior restructuring work includes representing landlords in WeWork's chapter 11 cases, payment processing providers in various airline bankruptcies, and an indenture trustee in the iMedia Brands chapter 11 cases. Courina previously served as a judicial law clerk to the Hon. Elizabeth S. Stong, U.S. Bankruptcy Court, Eastern District of New York.

Courina's regulatory and compliance practice includes advising start-up and Fortune 500 companies on consumer financial and credit products. She provides representation on earned wage access products and helps companies navigate through the evolving regulatory space.
