

Denver

by Stephen Weingold, Tricia Archuleta, Charlene Krogh, David Mangum, Lee R. Osman, and Lindsey Sadler

Since 1992, Dorsey's Denver office has provided the services of a large, international law firm to the Rocky Mountain region. While Dorsey continues to grow—both in numbers and expertise—we never lose sight of our goal: to personally serve our clients and provide them with a high level of professionalism and value.

Denver's client base ranges from local start-ups to national and international conglomerates, all of which understand the benefits of working with a full service international law firm.

Dorsey has the largest Patent and Trademark practice of any full-service firm in Denver. We also have more technology lawyers—most of whom have advanced degrees in engineering and science—prosecuting patents, managing patent portfolios and strategizing and handling the licensing and enforcement of patents than any other full service firm in the region. Our Denver commercial trial lawyers regularly try cases before judges, juries, arbitrators and regulatory agencies in a wide variety of legal disputes. They have argued appeals and been victorious in all levels of the state and federal appellate court systems, including the U.S. Supreme Court. Our Denver corporate attorneys routinely handle sophisticated transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, capital market financings, project and structured finance, and intellectual property licensing. We have extensive experience in advising U.S. and foreign companies in connection with cross border transactions, frequently working with lawyers in our other offices.

The region's climate, natural beauty and wellness culture combine to make the Denver area one of the most active and healthiest in the country. Recreation opportunities abound in Denver, with an extensive public parks system and a backyard boasting 42 state parks, four national parks and 11 world-class ski resorts.
