

Denver

by Lee R. Osman

Since 1992, Dorsey's Denver office has provided the services of a large, international law firm to the Rocky Mountain region. While Dorsey continues to grow—both in numbers and expertise—we never lose sight of our goal: to personally serve our clients and provide them with a high level of professionalism and value.

Denver's client base ranges from local start-ups to national and international conglomerates, all of which understand the benefits of working with a full service international law firm.

Dorsey has one of the largest Patent and Trademark practices of any full-service firm in Denver. In particular, Dorsey has a leading contingent of technology lawyers with advanced degrees in engineering and science who advise clients in matters such as prosecuting patents, managing patent portfolios, and strategizing and handling the licensing and enforcement of patents. Our Denver commercial trial lawyers regularly try cases before judges, juries, arbitrators and regulatory agencies in a wide variety of legal disputes. They have argued appeals and been victorious in all levels of the state and federal appellate court systems, including the U.S. Supreme Court. Our Denver corporate attorneys routinely handle sophisticated transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, capital market financings, project and structured finance, and intellectual property licensing. We have extensive experience in advising U.S. and foreign companies in connection with cross border transactions, frequently working with lawyers in our other offices.
