

Dorsey's Loni Hinton and Christian Ferrin Share Practical Strategies for Managing Tariff Risks

by Christian Ferrin and Loni L. Hinton

The recent surge in tariffs on essential building materials - including steel, aluminum, and lumber - is creating significant challenges for Alaska's construction sector.

In the Summer 2025 issue of The Alaska Contractor, the official magazine of the Associated General Contractors of Alaska, Dorsey's Loni Hinton and Christian Ferrin explore practical strategies contractors can use to manage tariff-related risks.

"The imposition of tariffs on essential building materials has introduced volatility into Alaska's construction industry. By proactively addressing risks through strategic contract provisions and prudent planning, contractors can mitigate potential financial impacts."

Read the full article published by The Alaska Contractor to learn more.

Related People

- Christian Ferrin
- Loni L. Hinton

Related Capabilities

- Construction & Design