Madison advises clients on various complex commercial litigation disputes, as well as creditor's rights and bankruptcy matters.

Madison has represented a diverse clientele in federal and state court proceedings across a wide range of industries including real estate, finance, banking, construction, trusts and estates, employment, intellectual property, and more. She also has experience leading post-judgment enforcement and collection efforts for clients.

Named a Super Lawyers Southwest Rising Star honoree for 2024 – 2025, Madison also devotes substantial time to pro bono activities, including representing plaintiffs in wrongful conviction matters.

Select Experience

- Represented commercial landlord in lease dispute against publicly traded tenant for unpaid lease obligations, alleging various COVID-19 related defenses. Successfully obtained seven-figure settlement after extensive litigation.
- Represented professional sports organization in connection with a breach of contract dispute. Succeeded on summary judgment against opposing party, resulting in a favorable six-figure judgment and eventual settlement.
- Represented banks in connection with unpaid loan obligations against borrowers. Obtained judgment against borrowers and led successful collection efforts to recover on the same (e.g. bank/wage garnishment, judgment debtor exam, etc.).
- Represented employer in connection with dispute over termination of a former employee. Obtained favorable settlement.
