

Seattle

by Lawrence Ward, Kerry Lee Andken, Kendall R. Fisher, Madeline D. Hepler, Jay Riffkin, Kayla 'Auli'ilani Ganir, and Emily Yoshiwara

Related People

- Lawrence Ward
- Kerry Lee Andken
- Kendall R. Fisher
- Madeline D. Hepler
- Jay Riffkin
- Kayla 'Auli'ilani Ganir
- Emily Yoshiwara

Our Seattle office has a wide variety of practice groups and specialty areas to serve a wide range of client needs. The office is particularly strong in international transactions, including cross-border mergers and acquisitions and financings. Our Seattle office offers lawyers the resources of a large, sophisticated and global firm, the opportunities of a cutting-edge legal practice and an informal, collegial and community-oriented atmosphere.

Seattle's highly skilled and educated workforce enables a thriving business climate for information technology and biotechnology companies, traditional manufacturers, small businesses and other major industries. Seattle is also a great city in which to live, work and play. Seattle's remarkable natural surroundings offer many opportunities for outdoor recreation, and its endless array of activities – art museums, galleries, restaurants, symphony, ballet, sports, nightlife, markets and indie music scene – means there is always plenty to do.

Members of the Recruiting Committee