Younghwan helps clients turn technically complex ideas into strategic intellectual property to support client's business goals.

Younghwan helps clients protect innovation by combining deep technical understanding with practical, business minded legal judgment. Drawing on his engineering background, Younghwan works closely with inventors and in house teams to understand how technologies function at a detailed level and to translate those insights into clear, durable intellectual property. He focuses on developing patent and trademark strategies that align with clients' commercial objectives, whether they are refining a single invention or managing a growing portfolio.

Younghwan is known for communicating complex concepts in a way that is accessible and actionable, enabling clients to make informed decisions with confidence. He approaches each matter with a collaborative mindset, careful attention to detail, and a commitment to continual learning, ensuring that clients receive thoughtful, forward looking guidance as their technologies and businesses evolve.
